TRULEAF FOODS PRIVATE LIMITED

SUPPLIER CODE OF CONDUCT

Version 1.0 | Effective date: [31.10.2026]
Document No.: TLF/SUP/001

PURPOSE AND SCOPE

At Truleaf Foods Private Limited ("Truleaf"), we are committed to conducting business responsibly, ethically and transparently. We recognise that reliable, safe and sustainable supply chains are essential to the quality of our products, the trust of our customers and the well-being of the people and communities connected with our business.

This Supplier Code of Conduct ("Code") sets out the minimum standards expected from suppliers and their relevant sub-suppliers in relation to business integrity, product quality and food safety, environmental responsibility, human rights, labour practices, occupational health and safety, and governance.

This Code applies to all suppliers, growers, farmers, aggregators, manufacturers, processors, packers, warehouses, transporters, contractors, consultants, agents, service providers and other business partners supplying goods or services to Truleaf or acting on its behalf. Suppliers are expected to communicate these requirements to relevant sub-suppliers and exercise reasonable due diligence throughout their supply chains, including, where relevant and practicable, to farm or field level.

Suppliers shall provide information reasonably requested by Truleaf to assess compliance and shall cooperate with reasonable audits, assessments, document reviews and corrective-action processes conducted by Truleaf or its authorised representatives, subject to reasonable notice and confidentiality safeguards. Where non-compliance is identified, Truleaf may require corrective action, suspend sourcing or terminate the business relationship, subject to the applicable contract and law.

This Code establishes minimum expectations and does not replace applicable law, product specifications, purchase agreements, quality agreements or other contractual requirements. Where this Code and applicable law differ, the stricter lawful requirement shall apply.

I. BUSINESS INTEGRITY

1. Legal compliance and responsible business conduct. Suppliers shall identify, understand and comply with all applicable laws, rules, regulations, licences, permits and statutory requirements in the jurisdictions where they operate and in relation to goods or services supplied to Truleaf. This includes, as applicable, Indian laws relating to contracts, taxation, food safety, trade, customs, labour, environment, health and safety, and anti-corruption.

2. Fair competition, anti-bribery and prevention of fraud. Suppliers shall compete fairly and shall not offer, promise, authorise, give, request or accept bribes, kickbacks, facilitation payments, secret commissions or any improper advantage to obtain or retain business or influence a decision. Fraud, collusion, money laundering, coercion, extortion and falsification of records are prohibited. Suppliers shall not offer gifts, hospitality or benefits to Truleaf employees where these could improperly influence, or appear to influence, business decisions. Reasonable customary hospitality, if any, must be transparent, modest and permitted by applicable law and Truleaf policy.

3. Avoidance and disclosure of conflicts of interest. Suppliers shall avoid actual, potential or perceived conflicts of interest in dealings with Truleaf. Any personal, financial, family or other relationship that could improperly influence a business decision shall be disclosed promptly to Truleaf.

4. Supply-chain traceability and origin transparency. Suppliers shall maintain accurate and verifiable records that enable traceability of materials, ingredients and Products supplied to Truleaf, including supplier identity, batch or lot details, manufacturing or processing location, and country and region of origin, as relevant. For agricultural and higher-risk commodities, suppliers shall provide farm, grower, collection-centre or field-level information where reasonably available or required by the transaction, law or customer specification. Suppliers shall cooperate with reasonable requests for supply-chain mapping and origin verification.

5. Product quality, food safety and product integrity. Suppliers involved in growing, harvesting, sourcing, processing, manufacturing, packing, storing or transporting food or food-contact materials shall:

- comply with applicable requirements of the Food Safety and Standards Act, 2006 and relevant FSSAI regulations, licence conditions and directions, where applicable, and with applicable food laws in destination markets;
- maintain documented and effective food-safety and quality management controls appropriate to their activities and risk, including HACCP-based controls where applicable, good agricultural practices, good manufacturing practices, good hygiene practices and sanitation controls;
- ensure that products meet Truleaf-approved specifications, agreed sampling and testing requirements, legal standards, authenticity requirements and agreed shelf-life and storage conditions;

- control hazards including biological, chemical, physical and allergen risks, and implement suitable food defence, food fraud prevention and contamination-prevention measures;
- maintain suitable premises, equipment, pest-control, cleaning, personnel hygiene, water quality, temperature control, calibration and maintenance programmes;
- ensure that ingredients, additives, processing aids, packaging and food-contact materials are suitable and legally permitted for their intended use;
- maintain batch records, test reports, certificates of analysis and other relevant records, and promptly notify Truleaf of any suspected contamination, adulteration, mislabelling, specification failure, regulatory action or event that may affect product safety, legality, quality or reputation;
- support prompt investigation, product withdrawal or recall, root-cause analysis and corrective and preventive action when required.

6. Confidentiality and protection of information. Suppliers shall protect non-public information relating to Truleaf, its customers, products, prices, specifications, operations, business plans and supply chain. Such information shall be used only for the authorised business purpose and shall not be disclosed to third parties without prior written permission, except where disclosure is legally required. Suppliers shall apply reasonable safeguards to protect documents, systems, personal data and other confidential information.

II. ENVIRONMENT AND BIODIVERSITY

7. Environmental responsibility and resource management. Suppliers shall conduct operations in compliance with applicable environmental laws, consents, permits and directions, including requirements relating to air emissions, water use, wastewater discharge, waste management, hazardous substances and pollution prevention. Suppliers are encouraged to monitor and continually improve environmental performance, including responsible use of energy, water and raw materials; wastewater treatment; waste reduction and recycling; responsible packaging; and reduction of greenhouse-gas emissions.

8. Deforestation-free and responsible sourcing. Suppliers shall not knowingly source materials in violation of applicable forest, land-use or environmental laws. Suppliers dealing in agricultural commodities or other materials associated with deforestation or ecosystem-conversion risks shall identify and assess relevant risks, maintain origin and supplier records, and take reasonable steps to prevent sourcing from illegal deforestation, protected areas or unlawfully converted land. Where Truleaf or its customer specifies a recognised deforestation-free or due-diligence standard, suppliers shall provide the information and evidence reasonably required to demonstrate compliance.

9. Animal welfare and biodiversity. Suppliers involved in animal production, handling, transport or processing shall comply with applicable animal welfare and veterinary requirements and handle animals humanely. Suppliers shall take reasonable steps to prevent unnecessary suffering, injury and distress and shall not engage in illegal wildlife trade, hunting or exploitation of protected species. Suppliers shall comply with applicable biodiversity, wildlife and habitat-protection laws.

III. HUMAN RIGHTS AND WORKPLACE SAFETY

10. Respect for human rights and freely chosen employment. Suppliers shall respect internationally recognised human rights and comply with applicable Indian and local laws. Employment shall be freely chosen. Forced, bonded, trafficked, prison or involuntary labour is prohibited. Suppliers shall not retain identity documents, deposits or wages as a condition of employment, restrict workers' freedom of movement unlawfully, or use threats, violence, physical punishment or verbal, sexual or psychological abuse.

11. Freedom of association and worker representation. Suppliers shall respect workers' lawful rights to form, join or not join associations, trade unions and worker organisations and to engage in collective bargaining in accordance with applicable law. Workers and their representatives shall not be intimidated, harassed or discriminated against for exercising these rights.

12. Safe and healthy working conditions. Suppliers shall identify workplace hazards, assess risks and implement appropriate controls to prevent occupational injuries and illnesses. Suppliers shall provide, as applicable, safe machinery and equipment, suitable personal protective equipment, potable drinking water, clean toilets and sanitation, adequate ventilation and lighting, safe accommodation where provided, first-aid facilities, trained personnel, fire protection, unobstructed emergency exits and emergency response arrangements. Incidents, dangerous occurrences and occupational illnesses shall be recorded, investigated and addressed.

13. Prohibition of child labour and protection of young workers. Suppliers shall not employ children in violation of applicable law, including the Child and Adolescent Labour (Prohibition and Regulation) Act, 1986, as amended, and applicable rules. Suppliers shall verify age through lawful and appropriate documentation. No person below the legally permitted minimum age shall be employed. Young workers lawfully employed shall not be assigned hazardous work, night work or tasks prohibited by law, and their education, health and development shall be protected.

14. Fair wages, working hours and employment conditions. Suppliers shall comply with applicable requirements relating to minimum wages, timely payment of wages, working hours, overtime, weekly rest, leave, social security and statutory benefits, including applicable requirements concerning EPF, ESI, gratuity, bonus and other employment benefits. Employment terms shall be documented and communicated in a language workers can understand. Only persons legally entitled to work shall be employed. Wage deductions shall be lawful, transparent and properly documented.

15. Equality, non-discrimination and prevention of harassment. Suppliers shall provide equal opportunity and fair treatment in recruitment, pay, training, promotion, discipline and termination. Discrimination based on legally protected characteristics is prohibited. Suppliers shall maintain a workplace free from harassment, intimidation, bullying, sexual harassment and abuse. Where applicable, suppliers shall comply with the Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act, 2013, including required complaint mechanisms and Internal Committee arrangements. Workers shall be able to raise concerns without retaliation.

IV. PROCEDURAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE EXPECTATIONS

16. Accurate books, records and documentation. Suppliers shall maintain complete, accurate and up-to-date business, financial, payroll, tax, production, quality, food-safety, traceability, environmental and employment records in accordance with applicable law and accepted accounting practices. Suppliers shall not falsify, conceal or improperly alter records, certificates, test results, invoices, origin declarations or other documents provided to Truleaf.

17. Management systems, due diligence and audits. Suppliers shall establish appropriate management responsibility, policies, training, controls and review processes to support compliance with this Code. Suppliers shall communicate the relevant requirements to their employees, contractors and sub-suppliers and take reasonable steps to ensure compliance. Suppliers shall cooperate with reasonable supplier assessments, audits, inspections and document requests by Truleaf or an authorised third party. Where gaps are identified, suppliers shall prepare and implement corrective-action plans within agreed timelines. Truleaf may consider the severity, recurrence and remediation of non-compliance when making sourcing decisions.

18. Reporting concerns and protection against retaliation. Suppliers shall promptly report suspected illegal, unethical or improper conduct connected with Truleaf's business, including bribery, fraud, food-safety concerns, human-rights abuses, environmental violations, falsification of records or misconduct by a Truleaf employee or representative. Reports may be made to: [insert Truleaf reporting email / grievance contact]. Truleaf will handle reports responsibly and, to the extent reasonably practicable and permitted by law, maintain confidentiality. Retaliation against anyone who raises a concern in good faith or participates in an investigation is prohibited.
